

Police And Strikers In Battle Today At Oil Plant

San Francisco, Sept. 14 (AP)—Hundreds of CIO oil refinery strikers fought a rock and tear gas battle with police for two hours today in an unsuccessful effort to keep non-striking maintenance men out of a plant.

A policeman, a state highway patrolman and four strikers were hospitalized but none was believed in serious condition.

Cameras of three news photographers were seized and the film exposed. Several photographers were roughed up. An Oakland Tribune reporter was hit by a tear gas bomb.

First Mass Violence
It was the first mass violence of California's 11-day-old strike over wages, a strike which has curtailed gasoline supplies up and down the west coast. Some five-pound rocks were flung during the fighting.

Most of the violence occurred at the main gate of the Standard oil refinery in Richmond. But it also extended for blocks around the approaches to the plant.

The police fired tear gas guns and threw tear gas bombs. Strikers tossed the bombs back and also threw rocks. The CIO unionists started massing early this morning after an overnight warning that they were not going to stand peacefully by as they did yesterday while non-striking went to work.

BOARD FINDS NEW JOINTURE GOES SMOOTHLY

The Gettysburg Joint School System board found itself Monday evening in that position which had been promised—the place where it has very little to do.

As a result the joint board voted not to meet until December, permitting the executive committee to carry on for the remaining two months with the routine activity of the five-district school system.

After months of sessions which lasted at times until midnight while the problems of setting up the joint system were being ironed out, the members of the boards of directors of the five systems who comprise the joint board were surprised to find Monday at their meeting in the high school here that they were through with their work in three-quarters of an hour.

Organize In December
The members of the executive committee, Dr. Ralph D. Wickerham, Ralph Guise, Raymond Selbert, Paul Rohrbaugh, Howard D. Waybright, Emory A. Fox, Hugh H. Adlesberger, Charles Cluck, Charles A. Wert and Raymond Scott, representing every district in the jointure, will meet the second Monday in October and the second Monday in November and the joint board will not meet in those months unless some unforeseen difficulty arises in the meantime. The boards however will hold their usual individual sessions.

The joint board will meet again the second Monday in December when the annual reorganization will be held. The individual boards will meet prior to that date in December to reorganize and elect members for the executive committee.

Receive Reports.
The treasurer's report presented Monday evening showed an income of $13,383.48 for the jointure during the month and expenditures of $5,199.06 leaving a balance of $8,184.42. Bills totalling $2,219.11 were approved. Board secretaries were (Please Turn To Page 2)

NAME LEADERS FOR COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE

The committee for the forthcoming first annual Community Chest drive meeting Monday night at the court house, laid plans for an intensive campaign to make "everyone in the community aware of the drive, and to make sure that solicitors will see everyone for donations."

A number of team captains were named Monday as the committee continued its work of setting up an organization of about 200 who will canvass the community.

Carl Baum, of the publicity committee, reported that arrangements have been made to have a short movie made, with Judge W. C. Sheely and John S. Rice appearing as the speakers. The short will be shown in local theaters. Collars for milk bottle caps, posters and displays for store windows, 4,500 red feathers for those donating and 2,500 four-page booklets telling what the community chest plans to do with the money given it are other features of the campaign.

WILL SPONSOR LIONS CLUB AT M'SHERRYSTOWN

Gettysburg Lions voted Monday evening to sponsor a new Lions club in McSherrystown. President D. E. Hess announced he will name a committee next Monday to promote the new service club in the eastern Adams county community.

The project was proposed by Zone Chairman Charles Held who said that both Hanover and Littlestown have given the local clubmen clearance on the McSherrystown project. When it is formed, the McSherrystown club will be the first new Lions unit in this county in nearly five years.

The local Lions, meeting at the Shetter House, endorsed a resolution adopted at the International Lions convention taking a stand against Communism and re-affirming Lionism's determination to promote the theory and practice of good government, good citizenship and the American way of life.

Chief Harpster A Guest
The local club also adopted a resolution proposed at the New York convention calling for more stringent examinations for auto drivers and a closer inspection of motor vehicles as a means of reducing the highway death toll.

Donald M. Swope, one of the club's delegates to the international convention, read the resolutions and also notified the club of the proposal for wide observance of United Nations Day on October 24. A special club observance of the day was suggested.

Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster was a guest of the club at dinner after he helped Lion Tamer Charles Keller round up several absent members as the club sought a 100 per cent attendance on "Honor Our President Night." Eighty-four Lions and guests attended and early in the meeting filed past the president's table to shake his hand as a gesture of respect to him and support to the club's program.

Richard B. Shade called the club's attention to today's observance of National Anthem Day and President Hess announced dates for attendance contests. Directors' and committee meetings followed the club session.

BIGLERVILLE'S COUNCIL TO GET ROAD PETITION

Biglerville residents this evening will present to the Biglerville town council a petition asking that the ditch and fence along the west side of Main street in the southern portion of the town be done away with.

The petition, which up to this morning has 125 signers, states: "We, the undersigned, residents or property owners of Biglerville request the Biglerville town council to urge the Pennsylvania Highway department to remove the hazard on South Main street, caused by the railing extending beyond the limits of the sidewalk line."

Council will be given the petition at its meeting at 8 o'clock this evening in the fire company hall.

Cite Accident Hazard

The petitioners pointed out that with the laying of the new "curb-to-curb" highway through the town, the fence will be several feet out in the highway from the curb, and they expressed their fear that motorists, driving along the widened road, will fail to see the fence in time and crash into it. They pointed out that sometime ago, during a fog, even with the narrower street in existence at that time, a car following the side of the highway, smashed into the fence.

Those sponsoring the petition pointed out that there is an eight-foot drop on the other side of the fence, but held that the fence and road could be done away with by providing other outlets for the drainage of water. The fence protects a drainage ditch.

Residents of the town pointed out that at present a drain extends underneath the alley to the west of South Main street as far as the Blaine Walter property. There the drain turns east, running under the Biglerville garage and having at its outlet the ditch along the road. They suggest that the drain in the alley be extended straight south from the point where it turns to the east at present. The present ditch could then be filled in, arrangements could be made to drain off water which now travels through drains under the road and the ditch could be filled. After it is filled, the road should be made the same width as is planned for the remainder of the street, the petitioners say.

SAYS BERLINERS SHOW LIKING FOR DEMOCRACY

The population of Berlin, in the monster demonstration last week in which the Communist flag was torn down, "clearly stated its wish to get a bit more of democracy and its dislike for a variation of what they went through the past 15 years."

That was the conclusion reached by Heinz Langerhans, of the faculty of Gettysburg college, Monday evening in a talk on the Berlin situation presented to the local Rotary club at its regular meeting in the YWCA. Langerhans, a native of Berlin, who was placed in concentration camp for his opposition to the Nazis, termed Communism and Nazism "variations of the same thing," in the course of his talk.

He also indicated that last week's Berlin demonstration marks a complete change in the attitude of the German people in general. "The only spontaneous demonstrations which can compare with the tremendous outpouring of Berlin people last week occurred after World War I when the people gathered in mass demonstrations and at that time raised the red banner."

Critical Of Reds

But, he pointed out, the "Red flag" of post World War I in Germany was of a different type from the Communism of today. Then, he pointed out, German and Russian communism were the nucleus of world communism and there was about it a different concept from that of today when "the left has been streamlined into a fifth column, a foreign legion."

The Russian moves in which a mob ousted the city government of Berlin from its meeting place did not succeed, thus showing that "with four power occupation Russia could not succeed with its propaganda." Berliners are "extremely critical of Communism," Langerhans pointed out. He added that the Berlin communist demonstrations were designed to set up action committees which, as in Czechoslovakia, take over control for Russia.

President Mares Sherman presided at the meeting with 56 present. William Tyson introduced the speaker.

3 COMPANIES AT CHARMIAN FIRE

The main loading unit at the Funkhouser roof stone plant at Charmian was slightly damaged by fire Saturday afternoon.

Roy Sanders, Pennersville, assistant foreman at the plant, estimated the damage at approximately $500, which was covered by insurance.

The major damage, Sanders reported, was to the elevator belt.

The plant was back in full operation Monday.

Three fire companies battled the flames for almost an hour before they were finally brought under control. The blaze was confined entirely to the 50 foot sheet metal tower structure which encases the elevator and loading unit.

The Blue Ridge Summit fire company at Blue Ridge Summit, Fountaine and Fairfield all dispatched apparatus to the operation, high on the mountainside overlooking the Charmian and Fountaine areas.

According to Sanders, two employees, John Shindeldecker, Fountaine and Carl Henry, Charmian, were cleaning the machinery which operates the plant. They were on the ground level, Sanders related, and were using a naphtha solution in the cleaning process.

In some manner the fumes from the highly inflammable naphtha were ignited and the area about the machinery burst into flames.

GOP SWEEP IN MAINE CALLED "FORERUNNER"

(By The Associated Press)

A Republican sweep in Maine's general election—the first in the nation—brought predictions today of a GOP victory in the November Presidential voting.

Rep. Margaret Chase Smith, Republican member of the House for eight years, won a Senate seat by a 92,850-vote margin—the biggest ever rolled up in the state.

She and other GOP leaders in the state promptly tabbed the virtually complete results as a "forerunner" of a nationwide triumph for the Republicans.

Wide Margins for GOP

Many Republicans also elected a governor and three congressmen by wide margins—although the Republican candidate's majority in the gubernatorial race fell short of Mrs. Smith's mark. In that contest, Frederick G. Payne (R.) topped Louis B. Lausier, Democratic mayor of Biddeford, by 73,947 in practically complete returns.

With the Maine voting out of the way, politicians kept an eye today on primary voting in seven other states for indications of national trends.

In Minnesota, Senator Joseph Ball bid for renomination on the Republican ticket. Candidates on the Democratic side were Mayor Hubert Humphrey of Minneapolis and James M. Shields, a supporter of Henry Wallace's Progressive party.

Johnson Seat At Stake

In Colorado the Republicans are expected to make a major effort to win the Senate seat now held by Edwin C. Johnson, a Democrat who has not always gone along with the Truman administration.

Former Gov. John C. Vivian is lined up against Will F. Nicholson of Denver for the GOP nomination. Johnson is battling Gene Cervi, former Democratic state chairman.

Although Michigan reported little primary interest a close battle was in prospect in November with Senator Ferguson expected to tangle with former Rep. Frank Hook. Mr. Truman put in a plug for Hook's Senate candidacy when he opened his campaign in Michigan on Labor Day.

PIRATES FIND POLO GROUNDS, GIANTS, ROUGH

BY RALPH RODEN

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The historic Polo grounds is fast gaining a reputation as the graveyard of pennant hopes.

Burt Shotton brought his Brooklyn Dodgers into the lair of the New York Giants over the week-end for a four-game series and left the cigar box with only one victory.

The high-flying Pittsburgh Pirates showed up last night boasting a seven game winning streak and Lippy Leo Durocher's fence busters cooled them off, 5-2.

By knocking off the pursuers of the front-running Boston Braves, the Giants themselves are sticking very much in the running for the National League flag.

Last night's triumph boosted the Giants into a fourth place tie with the idle St. Louis Cardinals, five and one half games behind the Braves. The Giants and Cards are only .0005 of a percentage point behind the third place Dodgers. Who also trail the Braves by 5 1/2 games.

Lefty Monte Kennedy stopped the Pirates' surge, scattering nine hits for his third triumph.

The Pirates opened in high gear, scoring once in the first inning on a double by Johnny Hopp, an infield hit by Dixie Walker and Ralph Kiner's ground out.

Giants Retaliate

But the Giants bounced back in their half, pouncing on Southpaw Vic Lombardi, a former giant killer, for three runs. They scored their runs on an error by Stan Rojek, Whitey Lockman's single, Sid Gordon's double and Willard Marshall's two-run one-bagger.

The Giants clipped Lombardi for another run in the second and completed their scoring in the sixth at the expense of Kirby Higbe. Kennedy gave up Pittsburgh's final run in the seventh.

Brooklyn wrested third place from the Cards by dumping the Chicago Cubs, 6-4 in a night game at Brooklyn.

A four-run seventh inning rally enabled the Dodgers to overcome a 3-2 deficit and win. Two singles, two sacrifices, two errors, and two fly balls accounted for the runs.

Lefty Johnny Schmitz, an old Dodger nemesis, went the route for Chicago. Schmitz, who now has won 17 games and lost 12, entered the game boasting a 6-1 record over Brooklyn.

Rex Barney, who hurled a 2-0 no-hit triumph over the Giants last Thursday, went the distance for Brooklyn to gain his 14th win. He has lost 10.

Tribe Loses Game, Black

Only one game was played in the American League, the St. Louis Browns upsetting the third place Indians, 3-2 at Cleveland. Pinch-hitter Joe Schultz singled in the ninth with the bases full to enable the Browns to break a 2-2 tie and win.

The loss left the Tribe three full games behind the first place Boston Red Sox.

The Indians also lost the services of Pitcher Don Black for the rest of the season. Black is in critical condition in a Cleveland hospital with a hemorrhage near the brain.

Black apparently twisted his neck when he hit a foul ball in the second inning. He fell at the plate in pain, was helped from the field and later lost consciousness. Team physician Edward Castle, however, said Black had an excellent chance to recover.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

The two semi-final series for the Eastern League's Governor's cup were deadlocked today as the teams changed locale for the third and fourth games.

Max Peterson and Alex Garbowski collaborated at Scranton last night in pitching and batting to give the Utica Blue Sox a 3-1 triumph over the Scranton Miners and an even break in the first two games of their set.

At Albany, three Senator hurlers turned in some sloppy pitching and the Hartford Chiefs romped to a 9-3 victory.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—Judge Raymond MacNeille yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of Homer C. This development came as the special grand jury neared the end of its investigation into alleged irregularities in the handling of closed building and loan associations.

Don Black (above), Cleveland Indians pitcher of no-hit fame, was in critical condition after suffering a hemorrhage apparently resulting from a neck twist while batting in game with St. Louis Browns at Cleveland.

Don Black Lapses Into Coma Again

Cleveland, Sept. 14 (AP)—Don Black, 30-year-old Cleveland Indians' pitcher, lapsed into another comatose morning a few hours after regaining consciousness.

Attendants at St. Vincent's Charity hospital said the hurler remained on the critical list following a strange injury suffered in a game with the St. Louis Browns yesterday.

The hurler had regained consciousness at 4:30 this morning (EDT) for the first time since leaving the field but went into another coma three and a half hours later.

YORK ROSES LEAD SERIES

(By The Associated Press)

A ground rule double by leftfielder Bill Street with two aboard in the 12th inning last night gave the York White Roses a 4-3 win over the Wilmington Blue Rocks in their Interstate league semi-final playoff series.

The victory gave York an advantage of two games to one in the seven-game series.

In the other semi-final playoffs, Jim McFaden hurled three hit balls as the Trenton Giants turned back the Sunbury Reds 7-4. The series now stands deadlocked at two games apiece.

Catcher Tom Sheehan opened the York half of the 12th frame by flying out. First baseman Chuck Clawson then singled to right and was advanced by Pitcher Ray Kolkowski's sacrifice. Centerfielder Billy Kovalek was walked and Street blasted a ball into the overflow crowd along the left field line for an automatic double, scoring Sheehan with the winning tally.

The Giants collected 11 hits and a dozen walks off three Sunbury hurlers. Three of the Trenton runs came in the first inning on four bases on balls, two hits and a stolen base.

The big blow for the Reds was the first inning homer by shortstop Frankie Diprima with a mate aboard.

STUDENT KILLED

Danville, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—A 28-year-old Williamsport technical school student was killed and two other persons injured when their automobile and a truck collided on Route 11 near here.

State police identified the dead man as Donald Fox of Danville, and the injured as Fox's wife, Rose, and his brother, Daniel Fox.

PANTHERS SEEK PLACE KICKER; HOPES HIGHER

By ROBERT SUNDY

Pittsburgh, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Pitt Panthers are marketing for a good place kicker—a dead giveaway that the team is spouting confidence these days.

A special need for points after touchdowns is something new in postwar Pitt Elefens. Touchdowns alone have been mighty scarce in recent years.

But Coach Mike Milligan is sure his team will make a better showing this fall than last year's worst campaign in all Pitt history.

He admits there's nothing much to base the conclusion on except a lightened schedule and a full complement of seasoned regulars. But it's enough to make him polish up his place kickers.

Last year the Panthers had only four chances to make a point-after-touchdown. They muffed all four.

Halfbacks Bill Bruno, Verona, and Lou Ceconci, Donora, and tackle Nick Bolkovac, Youngstown, Ohio, will probably execute the placements this season.

Stress Passes

Training hours spent on aerial drills is another indication Milligan is stressing offense. But he's far from pleased with the squad's passing.

Visibly disappointed with the first aerial workout, Milligan commented, "It's early yet and you can't expect too much."

Barring injuries, there's an even chance Pitt could win five games—West Virginia, Marquette, Indiana, Western Reserve and Ohio State.

A victory over any of the other four opponents would be a major upset. The "unbeatables" are Southern Methodist, Notre Dame, Penn State, and, to a lesser degree, Purdue.

Bruno and fullback Bill Abraham, Jeannette, are counted on as the offensive sparks. They would have been last year but injuries shelved them.

Wait Cummins, Greensburg, also plagued with injuries, will probably start at quarterback. Bobby Lee, New Castle, and Tony Dimatteo of Pittsburgh will fight it out for left half.

Jimmy Joe Robinson, Connelisville, another halfback is an excellent punt returner. As a regular in 1945, he returned punts 84 and 87 yards for TD's, the longest in Pitt annals.

Time Looms Strong

A sturdy forward wall sizes up as the best part of the squad. It took the onslaughts of the best teams in the country last fall with hardly a whimper.

Bolkovac and Bobby Plotz, Martins Ferry, Ohio, are starting tackles. Mike Boldin, Johnstown, and Bernie Barkouskie, all - Pennsylvania at Kulpmont high school, are guards.

Twenty-year-old Len Radnor, a football favorite ever since he came to Pitt from Plymouth, will start his second year as varsity center.

The schedule: September 25, Southern Methodist; October 2, Notre Dame; 9, West Virginia; 16, Marquette; 23, Indiana; 30, at Western Reserve; November 6, at Ohio State; 13, at Purdue, and 20, Penn State.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—John

Rusinko, former Penn State athlete, has been signed by the Philadelphia Warriors of the Basketball Association of America. Peter A. Tyrrell, Warriors' general manager, also announced yesterday that Bill McClure, Pottsville, Pa., who starred in the Eastern Professional league last winter, will be given a tryout.

McKeesport, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—

Halfback Ray Evans of the Pittsburgh Steelers says he has no plans to quit professional football.

Evans, former star at the University of Kansas, was injured Sunday as the Steelers lost a National Football league exhibition game to the Detroit Lions, 38-10. Dr. Ralph Daugherty operated yesterday to reduce a fracture of the left coastal rib cartilage.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—The

$4,200 three-year old pacing futurity headlines the Grand Circuit program at the Reading Fair today. The rich test has attracted a classy field headed by Mighty Boy, a double gaited performer, Quick Reward, Mario Direct and Nat Hanover.

The Grand Circuit meeting opened yesterday with Kroger Babb, from Joseph Rose's stable of Philadelphia, carrying off the honors in the $4,412 two-year-old trotting futurity.

Pebble Beach, Calif., Sept. 14 (AP)—

Sixty-four fair ones set out today in the first round of match play to decide the women's amateur golf championship of the United States, but one of the fairest and best of the field watched the conflict from the sidelines.

With such strong candidates as medalist Betty Mims White, Dorothy Kirby and Polly Riley leading the march toward the throne, vacated by the 1947 queen, Louise Suggs, pretty Dorothy Kietly of Long Beach, Calif., the ranking threat, bumped into an unbending rule of the United States Golf association and found herself bounced out of the tournament on an error on her score card.

Down and out while schooling for the steeplechases to be run at the Bel Air racemeting. Both horse and rider were uninjured. The Harford County, Maryland, course, opening on September 15, will present an eight race daily program through September 25.

LOUIS MAY MAKE OFFICIAL MOVE

Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—Joe

Louis may make his retirement as heavyweight boxing champion official today.

The champion is scheduled to attend a dinner of the National Boxing association tonight at which time he may make known whether he plans to keep the retirement pledge made to his mother after he whipped Jersey Joe Walcott in June.

There have been rumors that the Brown Bomber might make one more defense of his crown but he repeatedly has said he was through as a fighter. However, he has until December 25, six months after his last title defense, to inform the NBA in writing of his retirement.

President Abe Greene of the NBA said yesterday the association has planned an elimination tournament to choose Louis' successor in event he retires.

The tournament would include Walcott, Gus Lesnevich, Ezzard Charles and Jimmy Bivins, who was decided by Charles last night in Washington.

"But," Greene said, "we will not force Louis to resign. We will do nothing that might reflect on Louis as the great champion that he is."

Northwestern and Boston University have replaced Dartmouth and Lafayette on this year's Syracuse football schedule.

John Spangler and Harry Rupp. Quite a number of relatives and friends of the happy couple were present to witness the nuptial. The presents were numerous and of a useful character. Mr. and Mrs. Remmel will reside in Philadelphia.

A Foul Crime (Editorial): The assassination of the Empress of Austria has sent a shudder and then a fierce beat of anger through every right-minded man and woman in the civilized world. If there were any excuse required for the stern repression which Europe lays upon the criminal and the crank, the crime of Luccass would be sufficient. And it is to be hoped that this atrocious murder will bring the iron hand of Emperor and King down upon the Anarchists and their fellow-devils with pitiless severity. Small wonder that the Czar of Russia should give scant mercy to the Nihilists and those who scheme wickedness or treason. The European Anarchist has no tract of humanity in his composition.

He and Robert Paxton were painting the preparatory building, and were on a swinging scaffold, 43 feet from the ground, when the rope at one end came loose. THE SILENT TREATMENT

The only time that many people actually sit still is when they have to wait an hour or so outside a Doctor's office! I sometimes think it is a little trick of the Doctors that he uses to get his patients into a silent state of mind. Not a bad idea, anyway!

With more and more people in the world, and with a multitude of gadgets to fool with, we are creating a restless world. There is a line in the Bible that has always fascinated me: "Be still, and know that I am God."

Just sit still in some secluded spot — away from all varieties of noise, speed and heedless hustle. There, look about you. Meditate upon life's values, looking Nature full in the face, communing with her, gazing into the heavens, relaxing, and breathing out gratitude to the Creator for the multitude of blessings that are yours. How easy it is to dismiss the petty things when viewing the big things!

If more men and women would stop in their tracks and just ask themselves, "Is this worth while?" I am then of the opinion that many a life could be lightened of its burdens, and many a happy year added to what has gone before. This silent treatment is something that costs nothing. No experts to consult, no one to interfere with one's own decisions — just self-consulting, that's all.

You can ask yourself all sorts of questions, without offense, because you are you — unique in yourself. You can self-examine in a number of ways. You can sum up to date, and then strike off a balance, and see just how you stand with yourself and the world. There is something very deep and truthful in that famous statement — "Silence is golden." Yes, it's full of precious gold — and no one to send you a bill for making it your own!

Another day folds its draperies into the silent night. The brief period, before those lids of yours close for their rest and sleep, is a wonderful time for you to take this silent treatment all by yourself. And if you are unusually tired, restless, or ill, whisper to God for encouragement. He's always silent — but he runs a world!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Leaving Yourself Behind."

HORNET
A hornet is a fearful thing
Designed in self-defense to sting.

An insect most ill-tempered, he,
Who left alone prefers to be.

But what a hornet least enjoys
Are calls from curious little boys,

And when his home one romps about
With fury he comes darting out

To sting him cheek or brow or nose
'Til screaming home to Ma he goes.

'Tis thus a hornet makes it known
He wishes to be left alone.

MUST NOT AID COMMUNISM'S WAR POTENTIAL

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Paul G. Hoffman, economic co-operation administrator, assures us that Marshall Plan aid will be cut off from any country going Communist—or Fascist for that matter.

This American policy regarding Communism (and Fascism, if it should crop up) is, in theory at least, the policy of Britain and the rest of the Marshall Plan nations. Its avowed purpose is to prevent Democracies from being forced into Communism. However, I believe it cuts much deeper and that we are safe in saying it also is designed to whittle down the war potential of Russia and her satellites. This is a purely defensive measure.

Not only does this policy apply to the Marshall Plan but it affects general economic relations with the Red bloc. Most, and perhaps all, of the Democracies are continuing limited trade with Russia and her satellites, but transactions broadly speaking are restricted to those things which do not strengthen the Communists militarily.

Not Ideal Setup
This paradoxical situation naturally gives rise to the query of why there should be any trade at all. Well, even in a "hot war" there are certain transactions which can be carried out profitably on a quid pro basis. The international laws governing warfare appear to have taken this into consideration.

Eastern Europe now has certain commodities that Western Europe needs, and vice versa. So there is trade in such things as don't involve the war-potential. Perhaps that isn't an ideal arrangement, but it is a horse-sense one.

Of course there are some items of trade which fall within the gray zone, that is, no matter how carefully trade is screened, some things useful in war will get through. For example, a microscope might be extremely useful under certain circumstances, but you certainly couldn't class it with a high-explosive.

Anyway this gray zone isn't a thing we have to worry about too much. Our worry should be lest we forget that Communism must be fought with every ounce of our strength both on the battle-front and at home.

Neither comfort nor encouragement can be offered it.

Purse Containing $3,862 Returned

Harrisburg, Sept. 14 (AP)—A purse containing $3,862 left on a Pennsylvania railroad train was returned promptly to its owner because the finder remembered how she felt when she lost her own purse.

The handbag was left on the seat of a Buffalo-Harrisburg train Saturday by Mrs. Anna C. Moore, of Johnsonburg. Mrs. Anna Knechtel, a state employee, found it and turned it over to the conductor.

He opened the handbag and found it contained $3,862, mostly in $100 bills. The name of Mrs. Dorothy Emig, Williamsport, a daughter of Mrs. Moore, was found in the bag, which led to its return to the owner. Mrs. Knechtel said when she remembered losing her own purse several years ago. After worrying about the loss she returned home and found a note advising her where it could be reclaimed.

TEACHERS' PAY IS IN SPOTLIGHT

Harrisburg, Sept. 14 (AP)—The question of teacher salary increases was back in the spotlight in Pennsylvania today.

The Pennsylvania State Education association cited figures to show that the climbing cost of living is wiping out pay boosts recently obtained by teachers.

At the same time, the association observed in a statement that "the financial outlook for the teacher in our Pennsylvania schools is not bright."

The average salary of the Keystone State's 59,000 teachers is now $2,458 compared to $1,509 in 1940, the PSEA said. Comparing the two figures, the association said that in 1940, $1,509 bought $1,509 worth of goods. "In 1948," it added, "$2,458 bought only $1,366 worth of goods."

"It would appear from these facts," the association said, "that unless the average salary of teachers in Pennsylvania is lifted to $2,717 for the current school year, the teacher will be shortchanged to the tune of $259."

Meanwhile, Paul Christman, of Schuylkill Haven, chairman of the PSEA's legislative committee, said in the statement that local citizens should urge local and state school authorities to adopt "an adequate teacher salary and school subsidy program."

'BEN SIPE' DAY MARKED AT YORK

York, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—A 72-year-old York riverman, who is credited with saving nearly 100 lives during his career, was paid special tribute today by the city of York.

The city is celebrating "Ben Sipe Day," in honor of the county hero whose life-saving exploits along the nearby Susquehanna river have become legendary.

The celebration, ordered by Mayor Felix Bentzel, includes a dramatization of the old riverman's colorful life by a local radio station, and special newspaper stories of his exploits. Cash contributions also will be collected to help provide for the now ailing hero "the rest of his life."

Sipe devoted most of his time during his early years to aiding in finding and rescuing persons lost along the river. Because of his extensive knowledge of the river and his willingness to help, Sipe was called upon by hundred of persons to aid in rescue hunts.

of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker.

WIFE, HUSBAND FATALLY SHOT

Easton, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Howard DeLong, 22, was shot to death and her 25-year-old husband fatally wounded in their apartment last night while police pounded on the door. Patrolman Francis Boyland reported. DeLong died a short time later in Easton hospital.

Coroner D. F. Bachman of Northampton county issued a certificate of murder and suicide.

Boyland said Mrs. James Stocker, a neighbor, called the police after DeLong ran into her apartment and shouted: "Come and stop me. I'm going to kill Gerry."

The DeLong apartment door was locked when police arrived, Boyland said. He said he heard a man's voice call out: "Who's there?"

"The police," Boyland replied. Then a shot rang out, the policeman said.

Boyland climbed through a kitchen window and found Mrs. DeLong shot through the head with a gun beside her. In another part of the apartment he found DeLong with his hand claspings another gun.

Leighton's Speed Limit Is Six Mph.

Leighton, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Motorists traveling through this eastern Pennsylvania community had better proceed in low gear—at least until the borough council can change the current traffic laws.

Members of council revealed last night that a routine examination of the borough's traffic ordinances showed the latest speed regulation was written in 1902—and permits a maximum of only six miles per hour.

Council took steps immediately to call a meeting at the earliest opportunity to catch up with the present day pace.

Dr. Bechdel, Dairy Scientist, Expires

State College, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Dr. Samuel I. Bechdel, 62, the scientist who put a "window" in a cow's stomach to prove the animal's ability to produce vitamin B complex, died yesterday.

A member of the Pennsylvania state college faculty for 32 years, Dr. Bechdel was noted for his vitamin research among dairy cattle. His best known experiment, however, was that involving the cow which became known as "Penn State Jessie."

In 1926, Dr. Bechdel set out to prove that cud-chewing animals have the ability to synthesize vitamin B complex in the digestive tract by bacterial action.

Chapter 15

Once a month, generally about the middle of the month, it was the custom of Sheriff Buck Loomis to "inspect" the county. It was a word of Buck's own choosing, a word that helped lend an air of official importance to his cross-county jaunts. Actually there was little need for an inspection . . . the county was spanned by big ranches whose hired hands were usually kept well occupied, and thus, possessed of little time for trouble making, made Sheriff Loomis' life quite bearable. There were ample grazing grounds, plenty of water, and the usual quarrels that abounded in the average cattle raising county were missing here. Still, Buck persisted in his inspections even though everyone knew they were just social calls, a means of breaking the monotony of town life. At the same time, the ranchers looked forward to Buck's visits. Hospitality demanded that they devote some time to entertaining him and they were always glad of the opportunity to break away from their everyday responsibilities. Buck was a source of news to them. He always brought with him the latest news from town as well as news from the ranches he had already visited.

For instance, the curious antics of Gabe Foster, the owner of the Diamond-Dot ranch, were always a source of merriment to the other ranchers. Gabe was always doing something, something that always delighted the rest of the county. Buck had the latest Foster story ready for recital. Gabe, it developed, had just become a grandfather. In his eagerness to celebrate the event, Gabe neglected to notice that the label on the jug he picked up read "vinegar." A jug was a jug to him, labels or no, so it was doubtful if he would have bothered to read the label even if he had noticed it. Gabe, who was known to drink and swallow before he tasted anything, drank a full tumbler of vinegar before he realized that he had made a mistake. It was only afterwards that he discovered the whiskey jug on the floor beside his favorite chair. A huge swallow of whiskey seemed to have become embroiled with a like quantity of vinegar . . . the tempest in his stomach refused to subside for nearly a week. When it did, Gabe was so worn out from his sudden and frenzied dashes to the outhouse that he took to his bed to regain his lost strength.

Jack Benson, a veteran hand on the Dot-O-Dot was another favorite. Buck reported that Jack had met with something of an accident. There were immediate expressions of sympathy, and equally insistent demands that Buck tell them more. Jack, he related, had dozed off in his bunk with a half-smoked cigarette clutched in his hand. He had awakened to find the bunk, the bunkhouse and himself on fire. In a frantic dash to escape from what appeared then might become his own funeral pyre, Jack dived through the bunkhouse window. Unfortunately someone had neglected to inform Jack that after some eight or ten months of being without a windowpane, a new pane had just been installed in the gaping window frame. Mike Brady, Jack's employer for more than 20 years, was very much annoyed over the incident . . . not so much by Jack's burns, cuts or bruises, but over the loss of Jack's services during round-up time which was almost upon them. Jack was very much put out, too. Brady had docked him for the time needed for recuperation, and for the cost of the glass, plus the transportation charges.

Of interest too to the ranches was the news that a new general store had been opened in town. The appearance of a newcomer always aroused interest.

On these jaunts, Loomis was generally accompanied by his first deputy, lanky, red-headed Pat McCabe. Loomis was an untiring talker, while McCabe was the listener type. Loomis, it was reported, could talk from sunup to sundown; Pat, it was reported, could listen to him with apparent interest as long as Buck talked. No one seemed able to understand how Pat endured Buck's repeated recitals of his days as a cattleman, or of his earlier life as a lawman when he was pressed into service to "take over" for his father who was then Sheriff of a small border town and who was bedridden at the time as the result of a gunshot wound suffered in a brief encounter with a band of rustlers. Buck always liked to tell how he recruited a party of vigilantes who looked to him, evidently because of his father, for guidance. Buck according to his story, led an attack on a shack in which the rustlers had holed up, then with two Colts in his hands, he burst in the door, plunged into the shack and trading shot for shot with the outlaw leader, blasted him to death. The other rustlers, incidentally, were hung on the spot. Sometimes Buck neglected to mention this final detail . . . that was probably due to the fact that he was too busy to be bothered with a hanging.

"Seems like I'll never be able to forget that day," Buck mused as they rode along. "You'd think it was only yesterday when it happened 'stead o' nearly thirty years ago. It's funny, y'know, how some things kinda stick in a feller's memory."

"Yeah," Pat said. "Ain't it though? But what beats me, Buck, is that you didn't hold back, not even for a single minute, even though you knew all along that them fellers were killers."

Buck laughed softly, modestly, just as he had done so many times before after the same recital, and in response to the same remark Pat had made so many times before. As always, too, Pat grinned and shook his head.

"Doggoned good thing," he said, "that you didn't stop to think o' what you were doin' or mebbe you wouldn'ta done it."

"O-h, I dunno about that Pat," he said. "Y'know, when a feller's gotta do somethin', reckon he just goes ahead and does it."

Pat considered for a moment. "Yeah, I suppose that's right. A brief period of silence always followed . . . it gave Buck a chance to commune with his memories. He looked up with surprise when McCabe jerked his horse to a sudden stop.

Chapter 16

"S'matter?" Buck demanded. "See that horse over there?" McCabe asked, pointing. Loomis followed Pat's finger, then he nodded.

"Uh-huh. What about 'im?" "He's saddled and on the loose. Wonder where 'is rider is?"

They sat in silence for the next minute . . . the riderless horse finally raised his head and whinnied shrilly. Buck straightened up in the saddle. "Come on," he said and loped forward. Pat followed at arm's length. They rode up to where the animal turned and trotted away.

"I got 'n idea he wants us to follow 'im," Buck said.

Again they rode after the other horse . . . they loped southward for a time, then, still following, they went down an incline and pulled up when their guide stopped near a gully.

Buck swung himself out of the saddle. Pat followed suit. Together they trudged over to the gully, peered down and Buck stiffened suddenly. "S'matter?" McCabe demanded. "What'd you see?"

Buck pointed to the ground. There was a trail of blood and they followed it silently. A minute later they found the body of John Snediker.

It was about 4 o'clock that afternoon when Sheriff Loomis, Deputy McCabe and a third man, a stockily-built man with a leathery face and a thick, sun-bronzed neck that looked like a tree stump, clattered into view from the direction of the road that led to town, cantered past the bunkhouse, glancing fleetingly at a group of Circle-A punchers who were idling in front of it, swerved their mounts and rode off toward the big house. George Akers came striding around the house from the rear. He stopped when he saw them . . . at a word from Loomis the three men rode up to him, pulled up directly in front of him.

"Howdy," the Sheriff said. "You Akers?"

"That's right," George answered. Loomis dismounted . . . at a nod from him Pat and the third man dismounted, too.

"You the Sheriff?" George asked. Buck flipped his jacket open . . . a silver star that was slightly tarnished was pinned to his shirt front. "You fellers sure got here in a hurry," George said. "Don't think it's more'n an hour since I sent one o' my men 't get you. You musta traveled some."

Loomis and McCabe looked at each other.

"You sent fr us, eh?" Buck mused. "Why?"

"My foreman, Phil Martin's dead." The Sheriff frowned.

"Dead?" he repeated. "Y'mean somebody killed him?"

"Nope. I think he killed 'imself."

"What makes you think so?"

"He was sprawled out on his belly with his gun in his right hand. There was a bullet hole in his heart."

Loomis looked relieved.

"Then he c'n wait," he said. "This is my deputy, Pat McCabe."

George and the red-headed Pat nodded to each other.

"This feller," Loomis added, turning toward the third man. "This feller's Joe Hanlon, foreman o' the Snediker outfit."

"Don't tell me your boss sent you over t' make me another offer," he said with a tight-lipped smile.

There was a grunt from the Sheriff.

"Snediker ain't sendin' anybody fr anything," he said curtly. "He's dead."

Georges eyes widened. "He was here on'y this mornin'."

Loomis grunted again.

"We know that," he said. "That's why we're here now."

"What d'you mean?"

"Wa-al," Buck began. "First off, Snediker didn't kill 'imself."

There was no comment from George.

"Second, he was robbed."

"I see," George said slowly.

"Akers, Snediker came t' see you about buyin' some o' your cattle. He made you 'n offer?"

George nodded.

"Where did all this price talkin' take place?" McCabe asked.

George turned and pointed.

"Right over there," he said. "Not more'n 10 or mebbe 15 feet fr'm where we're standin' right now."

"Who was there?" the Sheriff asked. "Just you and Snediker?"

"Martin was with us."

"Fr' how long?"

"Fr'm the beginin' right down t' the time we finished talkin'."

"An' Martin's dead, too," McCabe mused.

"Akers," Loomis said. "I understand Snediker made some threatenin' remarks to you. That right?"

"Mebbe it was the other way 'round," McCabe said.

A frown darkened George's face.

"What's that s'posed to mean?" he demanded.

McCabe smiled fleetingly.

"That you threatened Snediker," he said.

George eyed him for a moment.

"Mister," he said evenly. "I was on'y knee-high to a grasshopper when I found out that it didn't pay t' go 'round accusin' folks o' things 'less I had somethin' t' back up what I was claimin'. How would you like t' have your teeth kicked down your throat?"

Chapter 17

McCabe gulped, swallowed and reddened . . . Loomis pushed him aside hastily.

"Just a minute, young feller," he said. "Nobody's accusin' you o' anything."

There was a moment's silence . . . George and Buck eyed each other, then the latter coughed lightly behind his hand.

"Let's get back t' what we were talkin' about," Loomis said presently. "What happened afterwards?"

Snediker got on his horse and rode away?

"No," George answered. "I went into the house, but I understand that Martin took Snediker over to the bunkhouse fr some coffee. Seems like it wasn't ready when they got there, so after tellin' some o' the boys t' see to it that Snediker got some when it was ready, Martin left him there and went off."

"I see," Loomis said. "Now where'd you find Martin?"

"In one o' our line rider's shacks."

"When?"

"O-h, 'bout two hours ago."

"When you found Martin, did you find 'ny money on 'im?"

"Y'mean, did I find Snediker's roll on 'im? No."

"Did you look t' see if Martin had it on 'im?"

"Nope. Soon's I got back with the boys, we lashed 'im to 'is own horse and brought 'im home."

"You ever have 'ny trouble with 'im?" Loomis asked shortly.

"Nope."

"Satisfied with 'is work?"

"Yep."

McCabe nudged Loomis and the latter turned his head while the deputy whispered to him.

"You think there's any connection between Snediker's killin', the sheriff said, "and Martin's?"

George shook his head.

"I don't think so," he replied. "But that don't prove much."

Loomis and McCabe held another brief and whispered conference.

"I s'pose you can prove you didn't leave the ranch till this afternoon."

"Sure I can."

Loomis hitched up his pants.

"We'll go have a talk with your men," he said. "Don't go 'way. We might want to talk t' you again."

"I'll be around," George said curtly.

Loomis and McCabe turned and trudged off; Hanlon, who hadn't said a single word, gave George a questioning glance, then he turned on his heel and trooped away.

"George."

It was Gay Hollis' voice; he recognized it at once and he turned just as she came up to him.

"George," she said again. "I'd like to talk to you."

"Awright," he said. "Go ahead."

"Can't we go somewhere?"

"Reckon this oughta do fr anything we gotta talk about."

"As you like," she said. "I couldn't help overhearing your conversation with those men."

"Don't know that it makes much difference if you or anybody else overheard it."

"I heard you say you needed money."

"That ain't a secret."

"Would five thousand dollars help you?"

"Yeah, I s'pose it would. Why?"

"I've got that much and I haven't any need for it."

He eyed her for a moment. She waited for him to answer.

"Where'd you get that much dough?" he asked.

"From my husband," she replied. "It's yours for as long as you need it."

"I see," he said slowly. "Cathy know anything about this?"

He considered for a moment, then he shook his head.

She shrugged her slender shoulders.

"That's entirely up to you," she said calmly. "I've offered it to you and you haven't seen fit to accept it."

She went into the house. Minutes later she emerged, smiled at George as she went past him. He followed her with his eyes. He saw her open the corral gate, saw her step into the enclosure. Presently she came out, astride a horse. She settled herself in the saddle, tightened her grip on the reins, and rode away. His eyes shifted . . . he had caught a glimpse of three men striding away from the bunkhouse. They swerved presently, headed toward the house. He frowned, hitched up his pants.

"Wa-al," he muttered. "This oughta be it."

GEN. CLAY SAYS WAR NOT "JUST AROUND CORNER"

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Berlin, Sept. 14 (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay said today: "I don't think war is just around the corner."
The U. S. military governor made the statement to American newsmen who came to Berlin on a special air force flight from the United States to view the British-American air lift operation supplying Soviet-blockaded western Berlin. Clay added he doubted the Russians "will make Berlin the final issue on the entire German problem."

The American commander predicted that before any forceful action was attempted to break the 82-day-old Soviet blockade, the U. S. would exhaust "all other means at its disposal" to reach agreement.
Political Battle Lost
A veteran American military official declared today Russia and Communism have already lost the political battle for Berlin. As a last resort, he said, they have taken to rioting and force.

The Soviet-licensed news agency ADN said today five Germans who took part in the disorders that followed Thursday's giant anti-Communist meeting here had been sentenced to 25 years in prison.
ADN said there is no appeal from the sentences, which were for "crimes against public order, the lives of peaceful inhabitants and the Soviet Occupation troops."
Climax This Week
The American official, Louis Glaser of Washington, D. C., and Brookline, Mass., is retiring as chief of the civil administration and political affairs branch, office of military government for Berlin.
Glaser leaves tomorrow for the United States after serving in Berlin since the beginning of the joint occupation in July, 1945. He told newsmen three years of "daily shirt sleeve negotiations" with the Russians had been tough, but confidently asserted: "The Russians and Communism have proved themselves morally, ethically and ideologically bankrupt in Berlin."
In Moscow, informed observers looked for a climax sometime this week on the four-power talks over the Berlin crisis. Whether the talks end in success or failure, appeared to hinge on what takes place at the next meeting of the East-West diplomats at the Kremlin, perhaps tomorrow.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—A certain Southeastern Conference coach, who is on the receiving end of this year because he doesn't "go it em" like he used to, suggests: "It's about time the NCAA created a purity code for football fans." . . . Yeah, but they're having a tough enough time trying to keep players, coaches, athletic directors and a few "old grads" in line. . . . A fan's code would require more enforcement machinery than prohibition — and would be just about as popular. . . . Chic Harley sophomore halfback at Illinois, is a nephew of Ohio State's celebrated Chic. . . . This kid once scored four touchdowns in one game for Fenwick high of Chicago. . . . Publicist Earl Hilligan points out that in 47 years American league pitchers have notched only 224 20-game seasons. Which doesn't make Bob Feller's season look too bad — except by comparison with Bob Feller.

ONE ERROR
Jack Gallagher of the Austin, Texas, American-Statesman, relates how a baseball fan recently was summoned to the press box phone at Austin to receive an "important message." . . . The fan trudged in, listened with a solemn look, then turned to leave. . . . As he passed the last reporter in the box, the man pulled a scorebook from his pocket and asked apologetically: "How did that last batter go out? I was delayed for a minute. A death in the family — my mother-in-law."

SHORTS AND SHELLS
The Chicago Bears think they may have another Ken Kavanaugh in Texan Max Baumgardner, a tricky pass receiver. . . . Nick Feher, Georgia tackle who worked on his dad's farm and in a Hubbard, Ohio, steel mill during the summer, says he'll take the steel mill job as the easier of the two. . . . After having to split the Beladme Handicap into two $50,000 races for the past two years because of the large number of entries, Aqueduct race-track bosses changed conditions so that it cost $500 to put a horse's name in the entry box. Result was only 15 entries and 14 starters in last Saturday's single race. . . . Around the Big Nine they're saying Northwestern has the best first-string backfield in the league — Tom Worthington, Art Murakowski, Frank Aschenbrenner and Don Burson. . . . Anyway it has the most syllable.

Of the four highest priced yearling race horses — New-Broom, Hustle On, Pericles and Broadway Limited — only Pericles ever won a race, and that was an obscure contest for four-year-olds. Hustle On never went to the post.

Seated on her throne, Mrs. Maria Strohmeyer—Mrs. Philadelphia—is crowned Mrs. America at Asbury Park, N. J., by Mayor George Smoeh (right) of Asbury Park. At left is her husband, Raymond Strohmeyer. The green-eyed, 21-year-old blonde was chosen over 26 others on the basis of beauty and homemaking abilities.

MRS. AMERICA BEGINS REIGN

Asbury Park, N. J., Sept. 14 (AP)—A 21-year-old green-eyed blonde of Spanish extraction, Maria Monez Strohmeyer, began a whirlwind reign Monday as Mrs. America of 1948.

She held a press conference, took part in a parade, modeled for advertising photographers and tried to find a place for some of the $5,000 worth of prizes her new crown brought her last night.
The new queen—who had quit the Miss America contest because she wanted to marry her ex-GI boyfriend—had a fur coat, furniture, dishwasher, automatic laundry, luggage and the promise of free diaper service for any future children. But the queen said she still was troubled with ordinary problems—she had no home other than a place with her in-laws in Philadelphia.
Mrs. Strohmeyer, a model, said it wouldn't matter for a while—not until after the whirl of contract tours and appearances now facing her. She said she planned a family "but that's for later."
Her husband, Ray Strohmeyer, 25, said it was all right with him. Employed now as a template maker, he is studying for a commercial pilot's license. Those flying classes, he said, led to his meeting with the new Mrs. America last December. She was taking private flying lessons at the same school, and they were married last June 23.
The new Mrs. America is 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 124 pounds, has a 35-inch bust, 25-inch waist and 36-inch hips. She took the crown from among a field of 27 finalists gathered here from throughout the country.

CHARLES LACKS POWER IN WIN

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—There's a growing suspicion that the boxer who succeeds Joe Louis as the heavyweight champion of the world isn't going to be another Louis.
Ezzard Charles, a light-heavy who likes to mix with the big boys, heightened that suspicion last night. True, the Cincinnati boy won a unanimous, tough close, decision over Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland.
But this fact was inescapable: both the Ohio Negroes landed blows that had they been tossed by Joe Louis in his prime, would have ended the fight. And what happened to the Messrs. Bivins and Charles? Neither was knocked down—and neither was hurt. Louis' power was missing.
Charles was especially effective with his left, using it either to jab or to uppercut. Bivins was at his best in close, where that left couldn't do much damage.
Referee Ray Bowen gave Charles six rounds, Bivins three and scored one even. One judge called five for Charles, three for Bivins and two even. The other gave Charles six, Bivins two, two even.

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—A loan of $140,000 to the Valley Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., of Huntingdon, Pa., was approved by the Rural Electrification Administration. The loan was among the total of approximately $2,500,000 approved yesterday by the agency for improvement and extension of Rural Electric services.

TRUMAN HITS AT 'SMEARING' OF SCIENTISTS

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—President Truman assailed Congress from a new quarter today with a charge that "some politicians" are endangering the nation's safety by "smear" tactics against scientists.
The House Un-American Activities committee — which he did not mention by name — was the obvious target of Mr. Truman's assertion that atomic experts are being driven from the government in these "hazardous times" by "totalitarian" and "un-American" procedure.
Called It "Non-Political"
The President stoked up his feud with the House committee, headed by Rep. Thomas (R-N.J.) in an unexpectedly fiery address last night to the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He termed the talk "non-political."

Speaking to an audience estimated by Constitution Hall officials at upwards of 2,000, the chief executive asserted the country's security requires that scientists work "in an atmosphere free from suspicion, personal insult or political motivation."
Their indispensable work, he continued, "may be made impossible by the creation of an atmosphere in which no man feels safe against the public airing of unfounded rumors, gossip and plan vilification."

"Most Un-American"
"Such an atmosphere," he went on, "the un-American — the most un-American we have to contend with today. It is the climate of a totalitarian country in which scientists are expected to change their

EVENTUAL UNION OF HYDERABAD AND INDIA SEEN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The great Indian subcontinent, struggling with the dangerous vicissitudes of its new-found independence from Britain, has been visited with two further fateful developments:

1. Mahomed Ali Jinnah, governor general of the Dominion of Pakistan, has died, thus depriving this Moslem nation of the man who created it and was its moving spirit.

2. The Dominion of India, which is chiefly Hindu in complexion, has invaded the premier princely state of Hyderabad with armed forces and there has been fighting. The declared purpose of this move against the domain of the Nizam, most powerful of all the Indian rulers, is to maintain order. His exalted highness, the Nizam, is a Moslem while some four-fifths of his subjects are Hindus.

Jinnah Is Gone

Take Jinnah: This brilliant, 71-year-old leader was law unto the some 100,000,000 Moslems of the Indian peninsula, and they followed him blindly. There was a time in his younger days when he urged unity between Moslems and Hindus, but in his later years he came out for Pakistan, that is, an absolutely independent government for the Moslems.

Now with Jinnah gone, there naturally is speculation whether this may ease the situation between the two hostile dominions—may even result in union between the two in a federal government. Sources in New Delhi, capital of India, are speculating along that line.

We now come to another angle, and that revolves about the violent and often bloody differences between the Moslems and the Hindus, growing out of religious bitterness. This has cropped up in connection with the invasion of Hyderabad. Masses of demonstrators yesterday marched to the Pakistan prime minister's residence in Karachi and demanded that Pakistan declare war on the Dominion of India because of the Hyderabad affair. You will recall that the Nizam is a Moslem, although the vast majority of his subjects are Hindus.

Eventual Union

True, India had been pressing the Nizam to join his state to the Dominion, Hyderabad being the only one of the hundreds of principalities

Littlestown

Littlestown — The employees of Jacob Brothers' sewing factory, Littlestown, and their friends spent Saturday in Washington where they enjoyed a sight-seeing trip. Among the places visited were the Capitol, White House, Arlington cemetery, home of General Robert E. Lee, the airport and the Washington monument. The trip was made in chartered buses. The following made the trip: Mrs. Mabel Patterson, Mrs. Charles Bupp, Mrs. Orville Newman, Mrs. Ralph Wahler, Mrs. Granville Jacoby, Mrs. Mary Harman, Mrs. which haven't joined either India or Pakistan. However, there obviously is no real basis for war between Pakistan and India, since Hyderabad lies wholly within India and 80 per cent of its people are Hindus. Moreover, India proposes to leave the question to a popular plebiscite.

Were Jinnah still at the helm, it's safe to say there would be no war over this issue. Still, observers noted when the argument over Hyderabad first started that religious strife could grow out of it and that communal fighting might spread throughout the dominions. No man can make a certain prediction about that now, for the people of the Indian peninsula are highly inflammable.

In the same category is the question of whether Jinnah's death may ease the relations between Pakistan and India. In any event, I venture this: Someday—maybe far away—Pakistan and India will unite under a Federal government, because they are interdependent economically and because it is horse-sense.

WHITE HELD IN NEGRO'S DEATH

Mt. Vernon, Ga., Sept. 14 (AP) — A white man is in the Montgomery county jail charged with murdering a negro father of six children the night after the negro was said to have gone to the polls and insisted upon voting.

Sheriff R. M. McCrimmon announced on Sunday he had jailed J. A. Johnson on a murder charge after the negro, 28-year-old Isaiah Nixon of Alston, died in a hospital of three gunshot wounds.

Johnson's brother, Johnnie, a 22-year-old logger, is under $500 bond charged with being an accessory.

The sheriff said Nixon was shot down in front of his wife and children. He quoted Johnnie Johnson as saying he and his brother went to the negro's house to get Nixon to work for them and that J. A. Johnson fired in self defense.

McCrimmon, however, said he was told that Nixon went to a polling place Wednesday and asked if he could vote in the Democratic primary. He was told that he could, the sheriff said, but advised against it. Nixon insisted upon voting, McCrimmon reported.

Herman Talmadge, a "white supremacy" advocate, was nominated for governor in the primary.

Pakistan Leader Is Given Last Honors

Karachi, Pakistan, Sept. 14 (AP) — Mahomed Ali Jinnah, founder and first governor-general of Pakistan, was buried Sunday night with full military honors.

Jinnah, who was 71, died here Saturday night of heart disease. His flight of many years for Moslem Pakistan free from Hindu India was crowned with success in the division of the sub-continent Aug. 15, 1947. Jinnah had been governor general of the Moslem dominion since that time.

Government sources here said they expected an announcement from London at any moment naming a new governor general, who is the direct representative of King George VI in this portion of former British India. Sir Ghulam Hussein Hidayatullah, premier of Sind province, was mentioned as a possible successor to Jinnah. Official sources said Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan prefers to retain his present post.

Divorce Decree Delays Wedding

Daytona Beach, Fla., Sept. 14 (AP) — Stephany Saja and Frank Hitchcock delayed fixing their wedding date today pending the entrance of a final decree in his suit for divorce from his second wife.

The 23-year-old daughter of a Pennsylvania coal miner and Hitchcock, brother of the late Tommy Hitchcock, internationally known polo player, have already obtained their license, Flagler County Judge E. W. Johnston said yesterday.

Application for the license was made several weeks ago and the license later issued, the judge said. He declined to give the date.

Hitchcock returned on Sunday to "White Castle," ocean front home of Col. and Mrs. Arch Wall at nearby Wilbur-by-the-Sea, where Miss Saja is a house guest. He declined to talk with reporters.

Director Robert Snyder requests the members to come early so that Mr. Lippy can start promptly. Those who are unable to be present at 8:30 are requested to come as soon thereafter as possible, as there will be rehearsal after Mr. Lippy is finished. It is important that all members be present on Thursday night.
